

Achieving MDGs for Global Health

SUMMER SCHOOL PROGRAM

JULY 8 - JULY 20, 2012

School of Public Health, Fudan University (FUSPH)
Shanghai, P.R. China

Learning Objectives

1. To gain a comprehensive understanding for the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) and health as a priority in MDGs
2. To exchange strategies and experiences as have been implemented and taken place among Asian countries in their efforts to achieve health-related MDGs

Program Overview

- Multidisciplinary collaborative training through lectures, group work, field visits, and case analysis reports
- Introduction to the development of MDGs and the monitoring of their progress on a global level
- Main topics on health as a priority in MDGs and the way towards the MDGs
- Certificate of Completion from the School of Public Health, Fudan University

Multidisciplinary Approaches to Reproductive Health in Global Health Context

NIH/FIC Grant Number: 1R25TW008118

<http://sph.fudan.edu.cn/rh>

Application Deadline May 7th, 2012

Who should apply:

Undergraduate and graduate students in the medical, public health, and other health-related fields

Admissions criteria:

- At least 3 years training in medicine, public health, or other health-related areas
- Interest and career aspirations in the global health field
- Proficiency in English speaking, writing, and reading

How to apply:

Please send your CV and completed application with your supervisor's and your signature by May 7, 2012 to:

Summer School Program
Box 175,
138 Yi Xue Yuan Road
Shanghai, 200032
P.R. China

By fax to 0086-021-64174172

By e-mail to fudanrh@yahoo.cn

Course Fee:

No registration fee will be charged. But participants will be expected to pay for their international and in-city travel expenses. This program will cover accommodation of the participants in Shanghai.

Scholarship:

Scholarship will be available for 6 international students from developing countries and 16 domestic students which will be used to cover international and inter-city travel expenses.

Program Director: Prof. Qian Xu (School of Public Health, Fudan University)

Sponsor: School of Public Health, Fudan University, China

China Medical Board, USA

National Institute of Health/Fogarty International Center, USA

For more information, please contact our Summer School Program:
by phone at 86-21-64174172 or on-line at <http://shp.fudan.edu.cn/rh>